授業の目標 Course Objectives
Any language student needs to develop both receptive and productive skills in the target language; for research students in International Media, Communication and Tourism Studies, as well as using language skills to gather data, communicating the purposes and outputs of their work is essential, in order 1) to engage with the academic community of their target language area, and 2) to develop opportunities for further research and collaboration at the next stage of their careers. Therefore, language training activity should simultaneously develop and further the students’ contacts with members of the academy in their target topic and area.
The course will be based on the TANDEM learning method, wherein students from Hokudai and overseas universities work together on a project to correct each other’s linguistic errors and develop each other’s language skills. Each pair would be expected to commit to a certain number of hours of collaboration work before the course. The method of contact between them initially will be 1) on-line through email, 2) via Skype, or 3) some other VOIP system. First, students would start the project by producing an outline of their research in the target language followed by producing a formal piece of academic writing on their research topic, along with an accompanying research presentation. During the course, students will deliver their research presentations in their target language.
到達目標 Course Goals
到達目標 Course Goals
By the end of this course you will be able to
1. develop transferable skills in the target language.
2. increase students’ familiarity with the productive use of more complex and sophisticated forms of writing, and also with the norms of academic discourse and rhetoric in the target language.
3. build academic networks in their subject areas.
4. get benefit from a wider range of experience, and also begin to be able to see who the scholars of their own age working in their subject areas are.
授業計画 Course Schedule
Tandem Language Learning Program 2025 will be held at Hokkaido University. Dates for the course are not decided yet.
1. Introduction of course contents
2. – 5. Lectures and workshops on various topics by staff
6. – 7. Students’ presentations followed by comments from staff and students

8. Discussion
準備学習 (予習・復習)等の内容と分量 Homework Students will form pairs in advance, and each pair will be expected to commit to a certain number of hours of collaborative work on their respective research outlines, abstract and presentations before the course. Students will be asked to present their research topic during the course.
成績評価の基準と方法 Grading System Student's grades will be determined by how well they demonstrate their achievement of the course goals through 1. participation: 50% 2. giving a presentation in their target language: 40% 3. actively partaking in discussion of issues provided by staffs' lectures on their current research: 10%

キーワード Key Words
output skills, input skills, academic language, argument, discussion, presentation, critical evaluation
授業の目標 Course Objectives
The purpose of this course is to develop the academic English of students through an integrated approach that focuses on both practical input and output skills useful in research. The focus will be on refining how students talk and write about their own research in addition to improving their ability to understand, critically evaluate, and express new ideas and arguments.
到達目標 Course Goals
By the end of this course, students will be able to:
1. Understand and utilize types of language that often cause problems for non-native speakers, such as metaphorical and idiomatic language.
2. Analyze academic texts through a critical evaluation of their meaning, intention, and argument.
3. Effectively and accurately talk and write about their own responses to new academic ideas and arguments.
4. Prepare and deliver presentations in English related to clearly and succinctly explaining their own research to students from other fields.
授業計画 Course Schedule
The course schedule is provisional.
The course will first cover the following areas related to input skills:
1) The theory of conceptual metaphor and its application to academic language.
2) The challenge of metaphorical language in academic English.
3) The use of idiomatic language in academic English.
4) Understanding and evaluating complex arguments.
5) Building vocabulary relevant to the reading of academic texts.
The course will then focus on the following areas related to output skills:
1) Critically responding to new arguments and countering competing arguments during discussions.
2) Planning and constructing written arguments and critically interacting with sources.
3) Techniques for effectively delivering a conference presentation.
準備学習 (予習・復習)等の内容と分量 Homework
Students will be expected to prepare for class by reading and reviewing course materials. General advice about how to do this will be given at the start of the course, and specific instructions will be given each week. Students who do not adequately prepare for each class will receive lower marks.
成績評価の基準と方法 Grading System
Preparation and active participation (25%): students will be expected to prepare for class by reading and reviewing course materials and texts, and to actively take part in discussions and other activities in class.
In-class assessments (50%): students will be assessed on their comprehension and evaluation of a range of academic texts in addition to their ability to clearly articulate complex ideas both verbally and in writing.

Presentation (25%): students will be required to prepare and deliver an academic presentation in English.

boardgames; card games; play; design; communication; collaboration; creativity; critical thinking; creative project; teamwork
授業の目標 Course Objectives
This course is designed to improve students` practical ability to collaborate on creative projects in English. Over 15 weeks students will play, analyse, remix and design boardgames and card games in English. The first few weeks are devoted to playing and discussing games from different genres. Whether students are avid gamers or have never played games before, these sessions will give them new insights into how games work. It will also provide practice opportunities for communicating through English. The middle section of the course will give students the vocabulary and skills to analyse games and transform them into new games through remixing. In this section students will develop their ability to collaborate through English. From week 11 students will work in teams to design and build a brand new boardgame from scratch. They will then present their finished game at the end of the course. Please note that all games on this course are boardgames or card games. The course does not include computer games.
到達目標 Course Goals
To gain confidence communicating through English in informal and formal settings
To understand how different games work and develop personal taste in games
To collaborate in team based creative projects through English, developing skills in active listening, asking productive questions, idea generation and refinement, and resolving interpersonal conflict
To critically discuss the pros and cons of different games in English
To work with others weighing pros and cons of different design decisions
To present ideas in a clear and concise way
